“ The children, of course won't know me but Mrs. Sheldahl and David might remember me. Edward and I were roommates for two quarters of our freshman year at Georgia Tech. I remember his being a very smart and determined individual. We were again roommates after I had graduated and he was still in his senior year, his co-op experience kept him in a year longer. We kept in touch intermittently over the years, the last time I saw him was probably in 2008 when he was taking a class in Atlanta, where I was living at the time, we went out to dinner. I remember getting an e-mail from him later in 2010, probably after he was diagnosed, right after my divorce and he offered to help in anyway he could, a true friend. My sincere condolences to the family. Sorry this is so late but I only found out through the Georgia Tech Alumni Magazine.

“ Queenie, We were so saddened to hear today that your son, Edward had died. Please know that you and your grandchildren will be in our thoughts and prayers at this very difficult time. There are just no words to describe the feeling of great loss and we ask that our Lord surround all of you with His love and compassion. We rejoice in the knowledge that we will all be reunited at the throne of God in His time.

“ Annalisa and Evan, Cathy and I want to pass on our condolences to you and your family. I was at the Edison Homecoming football game last Friday night and I was proud to see you two marching on the football field at halftime. I know your mother was smiling knowing that she with your father raised 2 good kids. May God be with you.

“ Dear Annalisa & Evan, We offer tribute to your father in how he has shaped your lives. We honor your dad's pride in your achieving milestones-learning to walk,ride bikes, master music, and his gentle spirit playing with you on your swings and teaching you to shoot baskets. He is honored by the spirit of politeness and caring that he engendered in you and the joy of your turning his guidance into new skills and successes. In our last conversation with Ed, he beamed with pride in your accomplishments. As we share your sadness, we remind you that you have more than memories because your character and faith in God, which have been shaped by his and your mother's guidance, live on in you. We appreciate the 18-year friendship with Edward and the many happy times with your family. Our tribute to your father comes with our desire to grow in friendship as you move forward in your lives.
