“ So many of my fondest memories...teaching me to make pot holders while I lay sick on her couch, digging through Fred's clothes to find shorts I would wear, taking me to church, waking through the middle of the night to find her pulling two angry dachshunds out of my sleeping bag, laughing and having unending patience with children, always being there for my mother, never forgetting to send me a birthday card, summer vacations, Christmas, dying eggs at Easter, camping trips and being the only person I was completely comfortable to be with in the absence of my own mother. Aunt Bert will always be one of my most favorite people...someone I've looked up to as being more close to perfection than anyone else I've ever known. With unending love and admiration...Juju
