“ I worked with George for the past few years at PM FLIR. George and I shared our problems with SharePoint. I really enjoyed talking with George about the time he spent on the boat in Annapolis. George's quiet, calm manner and confident attitude will be sorely missed.

“ George and I were office-buds and facebook-buds. George and I shared an office for 3 years and had many laughs. He use to tease me that he thought Candy was around because I ate Fruit-Loops and Rice Cakes for snacks just like she did. You could tell how much he loved Candy and how proud he was to have her as the love of his life. George was a beautiful person and will be missed.

“ I worked with George at the Army Project Management Office for Night Vision. George liked to work with just his lamp on in the office which I didn't understand until I got to know him. That relaxed atmosphere was evident in his calm and positive dealings with all of us even in the most intense moments of meeting the demands of the war. We'll miss George tremendously, but will always remember him fondly. I now keep a lamp on my desk and hope I can become a little more like him.
