“ Jacob and Jamie, I was very sad to see your dad's obituary in the Washington Post. He was so young. I remember both of you speaking of him and of his service with the Marine Band and of his work with the tobacco shops. I often attend Marine Corps Band concerts, never without thinking of you all. I am not certain if the stroke was a manifestation of another illness or if it was sudden and unexpected, but I do know you will miss him terribly as you grow into mature men; there will not be a stage of your life that you will not think of him and where he was at that stage; and, there will be many times when you wish you could get his ideas or even share a laugh with him. I hope that you are both doing well. Jacob, I imagine your residence in ND relates to aviation, and, Jamie, I hope that you are able to pursue something creative, as was your desire. I am thinking of you in this time of sorrow. Marcia Gibson
