“ We didn't speak or see each other all the time, more of on occasion. But every time we did get to communicate you would always give me life advice and motivate me to stay focused in school. You made me promise to finish high school with high honors and go to college, and follow my dreams. Your smile was so very contagious and I loved seeing it.

I always would look up to you when you came to visit in the summer time. You used to help me get over my fears of the "coo-coo monster" in my basement and being afraid of the dark. There was never a time you visited and we didn't have fun. I'll never forget Rocky running away on the 4th of July and you chasing him all the way down Blohm street just for an old man to catch him before you. I love you and I'll miss you more than words can ever express.

“ Where do I begin? Even though you felt darkness around you, you were my light, my smile. You had so much life in you and im so grateful to have shared a moment in time with you. We shared so many good memories. You showed me to live a little and I will never forget Selena coming out yelling " mostle tough" however you spell it, because we were obsessed with a video game and you and I and Selena knew why she was wild. Haha! Im going to miss your vienna sausage cravings at aunt dels. Im going to miss your guitar breakouts, im going to miss you walking through the door with nothing but a smile that always made my heart flutter. You and I had a moment in time, but nonetheless you and I always remained close friends. I worried about you alot, but now i hope your smiling and watching us down here on earth. I would give anything to hear your voice and see you smile one more time. But for now, Ill keep you in my heart until we meet again. I love you, Kyle.
