“ Dear Cullinane family, I am heartbroken to learn of Maddy's passing and so very sad that I cannot be there to tell you in person how many memories of Maddy I treasure. We worked very closely together at the State Department years ago and remained in regular contact. I will never forget the first time we met--in temporary office space given to our small team adjacent to Secretary Eagleburger's suite of offices on the 7th floor of the State Dept. Something about Maddy's voice sounded like home to me. It didn't take long to discover that we were both New Englanders. I adored Maddy's sharp insights, her opinions, her quick study of people and situations. Her petite-sized clothing was in contrast to her out-sized will and wit. Those were the days when you could still smoke at your desk and I will never forget Maddy doing just that, usually toward the end of a long day.

Please know that Maddy was thoroughly appreciated and loved by so many. Sending you all deepest condolences.

ME

“ I was sorry to learn of Maddie's death. I first met Maddie almost 20 years ago when her husband died and I was a representative from our church's bereavement ministry. Over the next few years I had numerous conversations with Maddie. When she learned that I was also the coordinator of our outreach program in our parish, she started contributing. She was very generous and called every year toward the end of summer to ask what we needed to help with school supplies for the needy. I will be forever thankful for her kindness and generosity. I am sorry for your loss.
