“ Dear Mary,

Since I can't travel to the service and share a tribute in person, I'm posting a longer note. Here are some fond reflections that others may read and nod their heads and some where the context is known only to you:

Stacks of mail-order catalogs we cleared off of the front seat of your car before you spent extensive trips as a chauffeur to our many work and social events; mock terror on your eyes when I took the wheel in our Irish rental car in search of any rural pub that served gluten-free beer; your office Happy Kiss-mass chocolates; the snacks and meals you lovingly prepared including Italian treats (like the Pizzelles made with your family's iron and pasta fagioli soup-yum!), our side-by-side production working for the florist on Valentine's Day; your excitement of learning something new; that pesky convertible's car door enroute to Middleburg; the DVD walking tapes; convincing a hotel chef to provide his lobster bisque recipe; our manager Bill & Suzanne's pool party; cross-stitch ornaments; coaxing the stray cat from hiding in the townhouse; our trip to PA to meet your mom and brother Dan; many holidays/milestones with your family members (including brothers and Julian); kneeling side-by-side in church after 9-11; your first Opera in Baltimore; practicing Ceili dancing in the office lobby; buying gold-tone silverware for our bed-and-breakfast scheme; telling stories from home like "dusting the saints" to pass the time waiting for delayed planes; strolling around the outlet malls; co-hosting the neighborhood "hat" party; dinner in Williamsburg; your family's rosary...And so many more points of time filled with adventure, good food, music, unabashed delight, (and some sorrow too) will survive your passing.

*Now, once again, like a beloved "older sister," you experienced something before me. May the light of Christ now shine to guide you on your way home and give consolation to your friends and family.
Lovingly, Mary Kay (Mkay)*

“ *Mamie- you were always a joy to be around. I remember us hiding behind a car's tires so the football coach wouldn't know we were waiting for two of his players. Make heaven more fun! We will miss you.

“ Mary was one of my dearest friends. We met when our sons were in daycare together 33 years ago and became good friends. I will miss her kindness, her smile and her humor. I am comforted that she is in the arms of the Lord now. My prayers are with Bill, Julian and the family.

“ My dear friend Mary... I will treasure our memories and celebrate the great times we shared going to the gym, shopping on Saturday mornings, making Christmas cards, all while laughing at life and enjoying the time we spent together to the fullest. Your smile would light up my darkest day. Your light will stay with me in my heart forever. Rest in peace my friend.
