Died Thanksgiving Day 2023 from a severe blood infection with resulting sepsis complications.

All who knew him can attest to the remarkable man he was. He was born in East Northport, NY to parents Albert Joseph Beauregard and Hazel Lillian Murphy. His siblings were Douglas Arthur and Sue Ann. Bob graduated college from St. John Fisher in Pittsford, NY and received his JD degree from Boston College. After graduating law school, he accepted a direct 5-year commission into the U.S. Coast Guard, stationed in Washington DC.

Throughout his 45+ years of professional work, both in government and the private sector, his specialty was Energy Law and Regulation. Bob was married for 56 years to Eileen Harley Beauregard. His daughter, Katherine Beauregard Davis (Erik) and son, Robert L. Beauregard, Jr. (Colleen) were his pride and delight. His four Grandsons, Grady and Liam Beauregard and Cole and Drew Davis gave him joy beyond measure.

Eileen will miss their spontaneous dancing in the kitchen, sitting under beach umbrellas, exploring on international trips, his genuine and outgoing interest in others, and his Love of her and his laughter.

Sweet Dreams, dear Bob.

“ I knew Bob when we were kids and also after we had both become young lawyers. He was a wonderful kid and person. Unfortunately we lost touch after I moved to San Diego. I'm very sorry to learn of his death.

“ I can remember Bob as a visionary leader, when I was first introduced to him back in 2005. We had become aligned in a project for the APGA to form and promotes an internal Fuel Gas Codes and Standards group for the APGA membership. Right from the infancy of this trying project Bob could see possibilities where others saw challenges. Bob’s and his unyielding commitment, perseverance to our undertaking was an encouragement for all of us, guiding us towards our collective goals. I worked alongside Bob as the lead of the APGA Fuel Gas Codes and Standards committee for over a five year period; we met monthly through teleconferences and at biannual face to face meetings. Bob’s character was truly a good hearted, positive and upbeat, astonishing, wonderful, inspiring, intelligent who always kept you positive navigating through our sometimes challenging APGA Fuel Gas Codes and Standards project assignment interactions.

Let us remember Bob’s many natural gas industry contributions, his dedication, and his pursuit of excellence. Above all I will remember Bob’s friendship, the most fitting farewell to my esteemed colleague, not to be forgotten!

I was so sorry to hear about the passing of Bob. I am Blessed to have had the opportunity to know; and work alongside Bob. Godspeed my friend.

“ Eileen,

Beth and I truly were stunned and sorry to learn of Bob's death. We have fond memories of the good times we shared together.

When I think of Bob, a word and a phrase immediately come to mind — Gentleman and Joie de vivre. In all our professional and social interactions, Bob was always upbeat, fun and had a way of making you feel like you were the center of his universe. A negative thought or disparaging comment never crossed his lips (even when he endured rounds of my bad golf play)! He was just a wonderful, wonderful human being — a loss for us all.

Our thoughts will be with you and the family

“ I remember meeting Bob in October 1994 shortly after I started working for the American Gas Association (AGA). At the time, Bob was a senior lobbyist for SoCal Gas Company, which was one of AGA’s largest members. During my first week on the job, someone introduced me to Bob. Almost 30 years later, I still remember Bob’s first impression on me outside of that AGA conference room. I was struck by his kind and generous spirit as he welcomed me to AGA and into the energy industry.

Over the next five years, Bob became a good friend and colleague as we worked on the numerous and varied federal issues that impacted natural gas utilities and played a few rounds of golf.

In 1999, I moved to the American Public Gas Association (APGA). Then, in 2004 I became APGA’s president and CEO. One of my first tasks was to recruit someone who could be the staff executive for our Marketing & Sales Committee and to work with APGA’s Research & Development team. Bob was the first and only guy I thought of who had the industry knowledge, people skills, and personality to lead us. I was so pleased for both APGA and me when Bob agreed to take on the assignment. His seven years with APGA were a masterpiece, and he had so much fun all along the way achieving successful outcomes for our member utilities and making many new friends.

Bob was a wonderful colleague and always a joy to work with throughout those 20 years.
