He participated in the Maryland Renaissance Festival yearly. He was also a major foodie which his daughters share the same love for.

“ Saul was a great cook and storyteller. And him and my sister Kim made beautiful baby girls. I still have the triangular shaped pouring pitcher made out of plexiglass and mirror. It is unique just like he was. I will always cherish the time that he took me and his toddler Shelly (my niece) to the Smithsonian. I got to see the Hope Diamond. He knew the place like the back of his hand. And his London Broil was delicious. He was also driving his limo with guests in it near the Pentagon when 911 happened. They were blessed to be safe due to Saul's fast thinking and Gods Mercy.
