“ How very sorry I was to learn of Susan's death in the current alumni issue of Connecticut College. We shared a birthdate and four years as dorm mates. We were both mid-westerners. She was fun, smart, hard working and a bridge player even then! She was one of the friends of whom I regretted losing track, but always remembered. Many condolences to all who miss her.

I knew Sus only from playing bridge with her. I found her to be fun loving with a great sense of her. She was a great teacher in this skill area of bridge, always open to help.
