

Vasco Barrington Wilson

September 18, 1941 - November 13, 2024

Vasco Barrington Wilson was born September 18, 1941 to Arthur and Adalyn Wilson in Manchester, Jamaica WI. As the eldest child, Vasco was always a special helper to his parents and had a unique relationship with his grandfather, Barda Cudjoe, being the first grandson.

At an early age, Vasco was tasked to take care of everything for his family farm, earning him the nickname “Manager”, because everyone went to him when they needed something. As a teenager, Vasco learned tailoring after perfecting his craft, moved to Kingston, Jamaica in the early 1960s, where he opened his own shop and gained the new nickname ‘Tailor’. During this period, he met the late Neretta Scott, and together, they had 3 children.

Later in life, Vasco reconnected with his childhood friend, Pearl Daley. They eventually married and he emigrated to the U.S. Their friendship blossomed into a marriage that lasted 36 years. Vasco had a special love for music and gardening and enjoyed many hours doing both. He always had his sayings, which are ‘put yourself in yourself’ and ‘don’t let daylight catch you in bed.’ We are going to miss those words of wisdom.
